Yet another example of internet targeting!

Young girl Ashleigh Hall was brutally raped and murdered after meeting who she thought was a well trusted friend on the Internet.

Peter Chapman, 33, posed as a 17 year old boy called peter Cartwright on a networking site known as Facebook. The monstrous man convinced young Ashleigh that he was her 'best friend', someone she could trust.

He posed as a father figure to make sure she felt safe in the car when he picked her up near her home, before driving her away from her family with the disgusting thoughts on his mind.

After the sick things he did he wrapped her body up and dumped her at the side of a farmer's fence. He was arrested by the police later that night, admitting that he killed the girl in the night; he then took them to the body.

Peter was arrested on Monday the 8th of March 2010 and sentenced for a minimum of 35 years.
